Receiving Clean Label
Project certification
on our products
is important to showcase to our community that our actions
match our words. We want to ensure that our products
adhere to the high standards we have.

Science You Can Trust. Better Choices for Families.

MaryRuth's was founded by certified health educator, culinary chef, and nutritional consultant, MaryRuth Ghiyam, to create wholesome supplements she felt the industry could use and would empower individuals to support their wellness. Through a growing product line of supplements for all life stages, MaryRuth's aims to support your health by creating morning and nighttime routines to move forward every day.

MARY RUTH'S

THE CHALLENGE

Although the supplement industry is regulated by the FDA, we don't want to create products that follow the bare minimum regulations to be made. We want to showcase to our customers that they are getting legitimate, quality, third-party tested supplements by going beyond just the required testing.

THE CLP IMPACT

The Clean Label Project's rigorous testing for contaminants and toxins sets a new standard in product safety, and we are proud to have 240+ products Clean Label Project Certified - more than any other supplement brand.
